FIRST EDITION.

MIDNIGHT.

THE CAPITAL.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, August 20, 1869.

The internal revenue receipts to-day were $304,965.

Walter S. Baker was to-day appointed Gauger for the Ninth Indiana and Josiah Mussler for the Fourteenth Pennsylvania Districts.

A game of base ball was played to-day between the Orientals of New York and Nationals of this city, which resulted in favor of the Nationals by a score of 48 to 8.

Some of the newspapers have incorrectly stated the amount of internal revenue receipts from tobacco for the year ending June. It is $22,200,000.

The thermometer in some parts of the city to-day in the shade indicated 101 degrees, and at 7 o'clock this evening 96 degrees.

The President is expected to return home about the middle of next week to attend a meeting of the Cabinet, but will remain in town about two days only.

PACIFIC COAST.

The Chinese Mission—Singular Phenomenon—The Sub-Treasury Funds.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, August 19.—J. Ross Brown, United States minister in China, who returned by to-day's steamer, heard at Yokohama that Mr. Howard, his successor, finally decided not to accept the position, but in the absence of any official information concluded to return to the United States. He has telegraphed to the State Department and will return to his post if the department expresses approval of his course in China. Meantime Mr. Williams is left in charge of the mission at Pekin.

For a few nights past singular white and red lights have been observed in the sky. Last evening the light was a bright red and lasted until late in the night. Passengers by the China steamer report the light very brilliant as seen hundreds of miles at sea. A magnificent meteor fell while the lights were brightest.

The Secretary of the Treasury as yet has given no attention to the petition of Vice President Colfax, Senator Stewart, and our merchants and bankers, for the transfer of funds from the Sub Treasury, although the former telegraphed several times, representing to him that the immense wheat crop stands still, vessels are waiting to load, and nine millions in the Treasury here, and that the bankers' proposition would benefit the Government by saving exchange. Meanwhile one firm was again allowed to draw on the treasury, in all half a million, for the purpose of speculation in securities and currency notes, while merchants are compelled to order their gold from New York by railroad.

Arrived: The Strathspey, from New Castle, N. S. W. Cleared: The Signapore, for Liverpool, with 8,600 bbls flour, 3,600 sacks wheat; and the Victoria, from Nianza for Liverpool, with 33,000 sacks wheat.

Advices to August 7th state the English frigate Galatea, Duke of Edinburg commanding, arrived at Honolulu July 21st from New Zealand via. Tagiti, where Prince Alfred dined and feasted. During the Prince's stay at Honolulu he was the guest of the King, who accompanied him to the wharf on his departure. The Galatea sailed for Yokohama August 2.

Abundant rain had fallen throughout the Island. The crops had suffered severely by drought, but the late showers have probably saved them.

CHICAGO.

Killed by a Rough—Sudden Change in Weather—The Visiting Chinamen—Excursion to the Pacific.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A party of roughs, brought from Philadelphia to work for the Lake Superior Railroad Company, at Duluth, on Saturday last, without provocation stabbed and killed Geo. Northrup. They had previously assaulted Northrup's brother, but he escaped. The man who stabbed Northrup is named Thos. Stokely, son of a prominent member of the Philadelphia Council. Nine of the roughs have been arrested and taken to St. Paul, where they will have an examination.

The weather here to day was very hot until about 3 P. M., when it suddenly changed, and is now quite cool. The variation of the thermometer in two hours was fully ten degrees.

Sing Man and Chow Chew left this city to-night for their home in San Frsncisco. Before leaving they witnessed a drill of the Ellsworth Zouaves in Dearborn Park and were escorted by that corps to the cars.

A party of distinguished southern gentlemen have arrived in this city en route to California. They will leave on Monday in a Pullman car, and will be absent some six weeks. The party consists of the following ladies and gentlemen: Hon. William Warner, United States Senator, Ala., Hon. W. B. Woods, do., Gen. R. W. Hesley, do., Hon. Alex. McKinsley and lady, do., Col. John F. Stokes, editor Daily State Journal, Judge Luther, R. Smith, do., Geo. H. Farnwell, Boston. Mrs. Farnwell, Boston, Miss Pugh, Ohio, and a few others from the east.

Late News from Mexico.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 14, via HAVANA, Aug. 20.—Gen. Placido Vega, with one thousand men, is moving on Guadalajara.

Conductas have left Guadalajara, Guanajuato and Zacatecas for the capital with a total of $1,500,000 in silver for export.

A freight train loaded with merchandise, belonging to Walsh & Co., was attacked on the Vera Cruz railroad, near Parras, and plundered. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

A rumor is in circulation that Tampico has been captured by the insurgents, but it is not credited.

NEW YORK.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 20.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT.

The President arrived here yesterday afternoon shortly before four o'clock, on his return from a trip through the coal fields of Pennsylvania. From the pier of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the President and family took carriages for the Newport boat, which left at half past six o'clock.

AN OLD MYSTERY EXPLODED.

The Times says every incident connected with the disappearance of Chancellor Lansing, forty years ago, is well known to a gentleman now living. The secret was confided to him by a distinguished citizen of this State, now deceased. The survivor was enjoined to publish all the circumstances when certain persons specified were dead. This condition has been fulfilled, and it is probable a narrative, calculated to startle the public, will yet be given to the world. There will then be no longer room for a single doubt in reference to Chancellor Lansing's fate. It will be well authenticated and will form one of the most remarkable pages in the history of the public men of this country.

HABEAS CORPUS.

The proceedings in the habeas corpus case of Mr. Rutter, late President of the Tennessee National Bank of Memphis, were resumed in special term of the Superior Court to-day. After argument by counsel, Justice McCunn denied the application of Assistant District Attorney Blunt for adjournment to this afternoon, by which time he said he would receive Governor Hoffman's mandate for the prisoner's return to Tennessee, saying there was not the shadow of legal authority for his longer detention in custody. The moment the prisoner was discharged Mr. Blunt received a telegram from Albany saying the mandate for Rutter had been issued and sent by mail.

MALICIOUS PROSECUTION.

An inquest was held on the body of [illegible]erson at Haverstraw, Rockland on Wednesday. The jury rendered a verdict exonerating Mr. Nickerson from the charge of having poisoned her, and declaring that the charge was brought by Dr. John Hengler through malice.

THE WRONG MAN.

An emigrant, who conceals his name, was arrested on his arrival here recently on suspicion of being a party charged in England with counterfeiting. He was kept moving about from station to station to prevent his being released on a writ of habeas corpus. Then it turned out that it was not the man.

THE COMMUNIPAW CASE.

Chancellor Sebriskie has rendered an opinion on the abattoir injunction lately issued by him, to the effect that the injunction does not restrain proprietors of the abattoir from slaughtering cattle if the work can be done without creating a nuisance, otherwise they will be compelled to cease operations immediately.

THE KNAPP ESTATE.

The estate of Mr. Knapp, the Pittsburgh gun manufacturer, fronting on the Passaic, in Kearney township, near Jersey, was recently disposed of for $180,000, New Yorkers being the purchasers.

A YOUTHFUL PRISONER.

Theo. Eve, an office boy in the employ of W. H. Whitney, 64 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested yesterday for attempting to poison the family by placing opium in their coffee.

DESPERATELY HOT.

The heat has been most intense to-day and has probably caused more suffering than that of any other day this summer. Several cases of sunstroke have occurred, and in some instances animals have dropped dead in the streets from the effect of the heat.

MINOR NOTES.

The Erie Railroad Company have occupied new quarters in the Grand Opera House, Eighth avenue and Twenty-third street, where superior accommodations for passengers are provided.

The Erie Railroad Company have offered to carry the Southern Base Ball Club from Cincinnati to New York at half rates, in case of a visit being decided upon.

Articles of consolidation of the Wabash and Lake Shore Railroads were signed yesterday, and will be submitted to the stockholders in thirty days.

James Burns, the Cuban filibuster, was released to-day on his recognizance not to take up arms against Spain.

The Metropolitan Fire Commissioners have awarded the contract to build the new fire alarm for this city to C. T. and J. N. Chester. The work will cost about $500,000. The ringing of the town bells is to be done away with under the new system.

The Convention of Western Railroad Directors, in session here for several days considering an advance on western freight, have come to no agreement yet. It is doubtful if the rates will be advanced, as competing lines cannot yet harmonize.

CINCINNATI.

Hotel Proprietors Arraigned—Meeting of Freight Agents—Weather—Fruit Abundant and Cheap.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, August 20.—Yesterday the proprietors of the Gibson House were arraigned by the United States authorities for alleged violation of the 2nd section of the act of Congress, passed February 5th, 1867, which imposes a fine for business or professional notice or advertisement in the likeness of a treasury note.

A meeting of freight agents for the Western railroads was held yesterday. Mr. Corse, of the Jeffersonville Railroad, was elected President, and Mr. Frazier, of the Marietta Railroad, Secretary. A general discussion in relation to freights, particularly Eastern bound, was entered into by the meeting. It was agreed upon to raise the price of fourth class freight five cents per hundred pounds and flour ten cents per barrel. This refers to Eastern bound freight only. Nearly all the Western railroads were represented.

Weather clear and parching hot; thermometer 96 deg. in the shade in the afternoon.

There is a great abundance of fruit; peaches are 75c. per bushel and tomatoes 25c. to 50c.

NEWS BY CABLE.

[By telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, August 20.—The Star has an editorial on the acquisition of Cuba by the United States, wherein it says that as a naval and military position in the Gulf of Mexico, Cuba is of great value. Troops and squadrons would be required there, but the people of America, with whom the acquisition of Cuba is popular, would offer no objection to such an outlay. There is no reason for Great Britain to grudge their possession; England's possessions in those seas are so exposed to attack at present that the danger cannot be augmented in the interests of commerce. It is desirable that Cuba be prosperous and her prosperity is much more probable under the American Government than a distressed colony or a Spanish Republic.

The Queen has gone to Balmoral.

LONDON, August 20.—The Harvard and Oxfords crews were out again for practice last P. M. The Harvards at the start made thirty-eight strokes per minute which was increased to forty. The race was good and well sustained throughout.

The Times in an article on the liberal changes in the French Government, says: The Emperor Napoleon, after presiding over the destinies of France for seventeen years, and after doing much to make amends for the loss of the liberties of France, will do well if by restoring these liberties he proves that he considers the remainder of his reign a prelude to that of his son. There will be no lack of opportunities for the French to accustom themselves to regard the son as the natural lieutenant of his father.

The Harvard crew went over the course to-day from Putney to Mortlake in twenty minutes and twenty seconds. Their time, from the aqueduct to Hammersmith bridge, was nine minutes and twenty-five seconds. The Oxonians only rowed from the aqueduct to Hammersmith bridge, making the distance in nine minutes and twenty seconds. The wind was not so favorable for them as for the Harvards, but they had a better tide.

A complete reconciliation has been effected between the Sultan and Viceroy of Egypt. The English and French Consols at Alexandria have congratulated the Viceroy on the termination of his difficulties with the Porte.

DUBLIN, August 20.—The Archbishops of Armagh and Dublin have issued an address to the clergy and laity announcing a speedy meeting of the Provincial Synod and requesting the laity to make preparations for sending representatives to Synods. The Archbishops offer no suggestions, but invite freedom of action on the part of the laity, and express their readiness to make use of the practical system of Diocesan Conference, if desired. The Dublin Synod will meet at St. Patrick's Cathedral on the 15th of September.

BELFAST, August 20.—A meeting of the clergy of the diocese was held here to-day, the Bishop presiding. It was resolved that the diocesan synod be convened to consist of equal numbers of clergy and laymen.

SPAIN.

MADRID, August 20.—A band of Carlists under Palo was recently defeated at Almagro, near Cindad Real. Palo himself and his Secretary were among the prisoners captured. Most of the Carlist bands have dispersed. It is rumored that a conspiracy in favor of the Prince of Asturias has been discovered by the authorities.

MADRID, August 20.—Two Carlists have been shot at Temente without trial. Casalis, the officer who recently shot nine Carlist prisoners, has written a self-exculpating letter, in which he says that in executing his prisoners he merely complied with the orders of the government. The government declares that the orders only applied to highwaymen.

The Reforma newspaper eulogises the late American Minister, Mr. Hale, for the steady favor he showed and protection he gave to Spanish laborers, and especially to those who have been at various times sentenced to suffer death. It praises him as the first foreign representative who recognized the present revolution, and calls him the Wilberforce of his country.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 20.—The Prince Imperial has returned from the Camp of Chalons. The Empress and Prince Imperial depart on Monday next for the east.

In the Senate the discussions of the Senatus Consultum will commence on the 30th of August. The article relating to the responsibility of ministers has not been altered in any respect by the Committee.

The French authorities have arrested twelve Carlist leaders who were attempting to cross the frontier into Spain.

Information has been received from the City of Mexico that two Frenchmen and a Belgian, all partizans of the Emperor Maximilian, have been arrested there as implicated in the conspiracy against the life of President Juarez. It is stated that the American Minister at Mexico refused to intercede for them.

PRUSSIA.

BERLIN, August 20.—A correspondent of the Prussian Cross Gazette at Rome asserts the late syllabus of the Pope will form the chief subject of the deliberations of the Ecumenical Council. The paragraphs concerning the relations of Church and State will be modified and probably intensified. The dogmas of the infallibility of the Pope and spiritual and corporal assumption of the Virgin will be promulgated. The Holy Father has expressed his regret that no schismatic or Protestant Bishop has offered to take part in the Council.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 20.—A conflagration at Janina has destroyed the business part of the town. Thirteen hundred stores and three hundred dwelling houses are in ruins.

BOHEMIA.

PRAGUE, August 20.—The Czechs declare that they will send deputies to the Bohemian Diet only on condition that alterations be made in the election laws and that guarantees be given for the separate position of Bohemia in the Empire.

PARAGUAY.

PARIS, August 20.—Advices from Parguay to the 10th of July, say that the war news is unimportant. The British subjects are still detained, but are well treated.

GREECE.

ATHENS, August 20.—The project for a ship canal through the Isthmus of Corinth has been presented to the Chamber.

MARINE NEWS.

LONDON, August 20.—The steamers Russia and Denmark, from New York, arrived out yesterday.

TENNESSEE.

President Johnson and Repudiation—Executions at Memphis.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, August 20.—Much comment is made on ex-President Johnson's Knoxville speech on the 17th, in which he appeared to favor the repudiation of the national debt. The Knoxville Whig says he also favored the repudiation of the State bonds issued under Republican State Government. But other reports do not sustain the Whig. The doctrine will not suit Tennessee, as is shown by the opposition developed by Etheridge's Milan speech.

MEMPHIS, August 20.—Joseph Galvin was hung to-day at one o'clock on a scaffold. He admitted having killed officer Fenton, but said he did it only in self defence. At 2½ P. M. Sam. Moody, a colored man, was hung on the same scaffold. He said he was not guilty of the murder of Captain Berry, but the fatal shot was fired by Bedford, now in penitentiary for ten years as an accomplice. Mr. Revels, colored minister, took Moody by the hand just before the drop fell, and said, "My dear young friend, I have often visited you since you were sentenced to death, and a few weeks ago had the pleasure of baptising you in Christ. You prayed to the Lord and he heard your prayer. Your sins are forgiven, as you and I believe, and the Lord be praised. He has given you grace for this great trial and you have told me all the morning that you are quite happy in the forgiveness of your sins. You are about to pass into his great and high presence. Scarcely will the shouts of earth die out in your ears and the scenes be closed to your eyes when you will be ushured through the pearly gates by hosts of angels and be taken into the presence of your Creator. Friend, now farewell. May God have mercy on your soul." Galvin's neck was broken by the fall, and he died in fourteen minutes. Moody died in eleven and a half minutes. Several thousand people, the majority colored and many from the country, witnessed the execution.

George R Rutter, arrested a few days since, was President of the defunct Tennessee National and not the First National.

ST. LOUIS.

Obituary — The Keokuk Convention—Deaths from Sun Stroke—Allen-Gallagher Fight declared a Draw.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, August 20.—Taylor Blow, an old and prominent merchant of this city, died to day after a long and severe illness.

In addition to the gentlemen appointed by the Governor to represent the State at the Commercial Convention to be held at Keokuk, September 7th, the Presidents of the Merchants Exchange and Board of Trade have appointed large delegations of prominent and influential business men and capitalists.

Geo. Rothburn and Patrick Bremain died to-day from sun stroke. The weather continues excessively warm and dry, the mercury ranging from 95 to 100 deg. during the day and nearly as high at night.

Allen and Gallagher, with their umpires and Larry Wissel, the referee, held a meeting to-night for the purpose of making a final decision of the fight on Tuesday. The referee said that he did not see the sponge thrown up; that when time was called Allen came to the scratch; Gallagher met and struck him, whereupon Allen left the ring; he, therefore, declared the battle a draw, although by a strict adherence to the rules of the ring he might give the fight to Gallagher. Both parties expressed satisfaction with the decision. The stakes and excursion money will be divided to-morrow.

Taylor Blow who died to-day had the following insurance on his life, which was mainly for the benefit of his creditors: Life Assurance of America $10,000; Manhattan N. Y., $12,000; National Life N. Y., $5,000; Great Western, N. Y., $5,000; St. Louis Mutual $10 000; Covenant Mutual, St. Louis, $5,000; John Hancock, Boston, $5,000; Widow & Orphan's, New York, $10,000; Phœnix, Mutual, Conn., $10,000; North Western, Wis., $10,000; Continental, New York, $15,000; New York Life, $5,000; United States, New York, $5,000; Mutual Life, $10,000—total $117,000.

PHILADELPHIA.

Proceedings of National Labor Congress.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, August 20.—The National Labor Congress met at 9 o'clock this morning. The Committee on Organization made a report, with amendments, but after debate the matter was laid on the table and the Committee discharged.

The Committee on Female Labor made a report, which was adopted as follows:

Resolved, That this Congress recommend that all the Trades Unions make immediate effort to secure a thorough organization of female labor and demand the same pay for work equally well done by woman as well as man; that every avenue of labor for which woman is physically capacitated should be freely opened to her on the same terms and conditions as allowed to any class of laborers; we ask for women equal opportunities and rights in every field of enterprise and labor.

A resolution was adopted for the appointment of a Committee on Ways and Means and a Standing Committee.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing Coolie labor, but declaring that voluntary Chinese emigrants should be protected like other citizens.

A special Committee on a new political party was appointed. Recess.

During the morning session a long report in reference to the trouble in the coal mining districts was read. The only point in it is the suggestion that it is a question whether the Government should not take possession of the coal mines, the country paying the present owners a fair valuation for the same and run these mines as the gold mines of California have been run, in the interest of the whole people. The reserved right to all the natural wealth of the country should never pass out of the hands of the people into the hands of monopolists.

A platform was adopted, of which the following is a synopsis: That all political power is inherent in the people and pure government is founded on their authority and established for their benefit.

That laborers in all departments of useful industry are suffering from a system of monarchial laws which were enacted during the late war, as measures, it was assumed, necessary to the life of the nation and which are now sought to be perpetuated in the interest of bond holders and bankers to subvert the Government of our fathers, and establish on its ruin an empire in which all political power will be centralized, to restrain and oppress rights of labor and subordinate its votaries to the merciless demend of aggregated capital and supercilious authoritory,

That the National banking system has been inimical to the spirit of liberty and subversive of the principles of justice, and without warrant in the Constitution of the United States, and wrongfully increasing the burden of the wealth producing classes millions of dollars annually; justice, the aspirations of honest industry, and spirit of imperilled liberty demand its immediate repeal, and the substitution of legal tender notes as the exclusive currency of the nation.

That the National Labor Union is opposed to the continuation and creation of banks by acts of incorporation, by either State or National authority, with the privilege of making, issuing or putting in circulation any notes, bills or other papers of any other bank, to circulate as money, except the legal tender treasury notes therein contemplated.

That the revenue laws of the United States should be altered so that instead of subordinating labor to capital they may afford just protection to labor and the industrial interests of the whole country.

That the legal tender money should be made legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, and convertible at the option of the holder, into Government bonds, bearing interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, with the privilege to hold or reconvert bonds into money and money into bonds at his pleasure.

That the National Labor Congress earnestly recommend the adoption of such measures among all classes of workmen in all sections of the country as will secure the adoption of the eight hour system, and call upon their respective State Legislatures to follow the example of the National Congress in recognizing eight hours as a legal day's work.

That land monopolies are at variance with the doctrine that all free men, when they form a social compact, are equal in rights, and if persisted in must ultimately result in the subversion of free institutions, as also of the social political well being of the laboring mass.

That as labor is the foundation and cause of national prosperity, it is both the duty and to the interest of the Government to foster and protect it. Its importance therefore demands the creation of an executive department of the government at Washington, to be denominated a Department of Labor, which shall aid in protecting it above all other interests.

That political equality being one of the cardinal principles of this organization, we therefore urge the full restoration of civil and political rights to every American citizen, except such as have been convicted of felony.

The platform, as read, was unanimously adopted.

The Committee on Obnoxious Laws reported a preamble and resolution against the conspiracy laws of the different States, especially those of Pennsylvania, emphatically demanding their immediate and unconditional repeal, which were adopted.

A resolution making it the duty of Labor Unions to report quarterly in regard to hours and character of labor, etc., was adopted.

A dispatch was received here this afternoon announcing that Schofield's woolen mill, in Montgomery county, opposite Manayunk, was on fire, and owing to the scarcity of water in the Schuylkill, the people were unable to do much towards saving the building. At two o'clock this afternoon the fire was still burning, with every prospect of the total destruction of the mill.

LATER.—The loss by fire at Schofield's mills is less than reported. $5,000 will cover it.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., August 20.—A fire this morning in Dr. Wanzer's dental rooms, over Nos. 14 and 16 Buffalo street, destroyed property to the value of $15,000. The occupants of the ground floor sustained slight losses. The fire is supposed to have been set by burglars who first operated on a safe in Dr. Wanzer's office, taking from it one hundred and seventy dollars.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The Camp Meeting season is fully inaugurated throughout the country. Most of the meetings in this immediate neighborhood commenced Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Three are now in progress in this county, two of them within a few miles of this city, near Mc. Keesport and at Leetsdale, near Sewickley. During the month of August most of these gatherings in the leafy groves will take place, and a few will be held early in September. While the same reasons do not exist for holding these meetings, as when they were first originated by the Methodists and Presbyterians, and perhaps were in favor with other denominations, yet there is sufficient justification for observing this time-honored custom, at least our Methodist friends think so. Among the prominent reasons offered, in addition to the arguments always advanced in favor of them, is that it affords the only opportunity to multitudes to recuperate their physical powers, at a trifling expense, and among associations thoroughly imbued with a religious element. It is argued, too, that even worldly-minded persons, who attend, are constantly surrounded with good influences of a public or private character, and cannot fail to feel the effects. The consecutive religious services naturally spiritualize the mind of attendants at these meetings, unless persons absent themselves wholly from them. It is contended also by the advocates of these meetings—good and faithful members of the Church, that in the use of the consecutive means of grace, morning, afternoon, and night, with the social religious element otherwise, that their attention is taken off temporalities, and they become more fully imbued with divine things, and thus believers are quickened into a more active faith, and more zealous and laborious in promoting the Kingdom of Christ among men. Then the aggregation of religious feeling, under the blessing of God, becomes a power in co-operating with the Divine Spirit in awakening the unconverted to a sense of their condition. We are glad to see that the authorities of the City Camp Meeting, near Tarentum, have requested the railroad companies not to run trains on Sunday, and to close the grounds against public vehicles.

A movement is about being made to start a new Presbyterian paper in Chicago, representing the interests of the re-united Church.

The Catholic Telegraph at Cincinnati calls the American common school system a social cancer, and thinks until it is shivered to pieces, modern paganism will triumph.

At the late monthly meeting of the Managers of the American Bible Society, over ten thousand volumes of the Word of God were granted to various benevolent objects, besides an appropriation of one thousand dollars for printing the Book of Psalms in modern Greek, in Athens.

According to the Independent, the Reformed (Dutch) Church is not enjoying the same prosperity the last as the previous year. Statistics show four hundred and thirty-eight churches, being ten less than last year, and nearly one thousand accessions to the churches less than during the previous year. Notwithstanding this fact, our observations gleaned from various sources indicate that that Church never in its history seemed to be more aggressive in Church work, and fully abreast with the times, as during this time. The Christian Intelligencer, the able organ of that denomination, indicates that fact very clearly in its representations of the various departments of the Church.

From the same source we are informed that the Old School Presbyterian General Assembly in 1842 decided by a clear majority that marriage with a deceased wife's sister is "forbidden by the law of God." In 1845 it denied the validity of the Roman Catholic baptism; and in 1849 condemned the practices of sitting in prayer and reading of sermons—practices that are still indulged in by multitudes in the present day. All these are virtually repealed by the act of union.

In these days of attempts to promote the temperance cause, Sunday School instruction is proposed as a preventive of intemperance. The positive influence of Sunday Schools is often very great in this direction. An instance is given by an exchange of the organization of a Sunday School in Tennessee where within a radius of one mile were four distilleries in full blast. Now all four are broken up. The owner of one of them was heard to say: "That Sunday School was too much for me."

The Commercial Advertiser of New York says the Young Men's Christian Association of that city have resolved to open their library and reading rooms every day during the summer. We presume this includes Sunday.

The Register, a Unitarian paper, thinks the reason why liberal ideas do not spread in New Jersey, is that New Englanders have not settled there, and for this reason ignorance abounds on every hand. It happens that Methodists abound in that benighted land, and it says that such people make good Methodists, but not Unitarians. They can understand a religion of feeling, but a religion of thinking is quite beyond their grasp. We have observed of late years that the feeling element is growing among evangelical Christians of all denominations, who are quite as intellectual as liberal Christians. This charge will sound strange to our Methodist friends, especially as they claim to be abreast of the times in educational matters, and not without some reason.

According to the Friend's Review, to publish that a Friend will preach at a given time, is not only inconsistent with their profession, but, an implied presumption on the future, and is liable to the apostle's rebuke, "Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow."

The Society for the Increase of the Ministery, under the control of the Protestant Episcopal Church, has granted aid from its funds, since last October, to one hundred and sixty young men. New applications are constantly received from candidates. The Society needs full three thousand dollars each month to carry on its work successfully.

Considerable attention is given to the question of the election of elders for a term of years among the Presbyterians. Even the United Presbyterians are disposed to investigate the merits of the proposed change, at least it would appear so from the fact, that a member of the Presbytery of Monongahela was appointed to preach before the Presbytery at its next meeting on the following subject, viz:—"Should a ruling elder exercise his office in any particular congregation an indefinite time without re-election by the people."

The Presbyterian in an article entitled "Our Churches," represents that the moneyed congregation in the Old School Church, as far as the last year's contributions show, is the First Church, New York. Its colums foot up $141,729, of which only $9,587 were for its own congregational purposes. The pastor is Rev. Dr. Paxton, formerly of this city.

How Jim Wicker's Head Got Baid.

Jim Wicker was a comical-looking fellow, with a very young face; but by reason of having no hair, he looked very old from his eyebrows all the way round to the back of his neck. He was very sensitive about the defect, and was somewhat celebrated, from a fight he had had with a traveling agriculturist, who, upon being asked by Jim "What would cause the hair to grow upon his shining poll," was advised to "cover the top of his head with guano, and plant it down in crab grass." But Jim wouldn't quarrel with Captain Wild, for that gentleman was not only the host of the Fairy Queen, but also had the key of all "the reiresh ments" in his possession; so without hesitation he enlightened his auditor after this fashion:

"You see the har did always grow rather scarce 'bout my scalp, and I was always rubbing one thing and another to fotch it out, though thar was little to be seen above ground. I'd heard of bar's grease, and bought a gallon in bottles, but I believe it was nothing but hog's lard and mutton taller; so I thought I would have the genuine article, and I got old Dan to go out and kill something for my especial benefit. Dan told me it was in the spring, and that the bar was in bad health and out of season; but I believed he was trying to quiz me, and wouldn't take no for an answer. A short hunt fotched a critter at bay, and Dan by a shot in the vitals saved the varmint; but the bar was in a bad condition, for he looked as seedy as an old Canadian thistle, and he had hardly enough in him to keep his joints from squeaking, but what he did have I got and used; and, stranger, said Jim, looking sorrowfully round on the company, in two days what har I had, commenced falling off, and in a week I was bald as a gun-barrel. Dan was right; the varmint was shedding himself, and nothing in him but har shedding ile, and the consequence is, I can't in the dark tell my head from a dried gourd, if I depend on feeling."

An Incident in the Northwest.

"Out yonder burns a camp fire. I see by its glimmering light a stalwart man, with shaggy beard and slouched hat. His features are more sunburned than my own, which are already taking on an Indian hue, and they will be still darker before the party returns to its starting point. The emigrant's wife sits on the other side of the fire, and by its light I see that she wears a faded linsey woolsey dress, that her hair is uncombed, that she has not given much attention to her toilet. Two frowzy-headed children, a boy and a girl, are romping in the grass. The worldly effects of this family are in that canvass-covered ox-wagon, with a chicken coop at the hinder part and a tin kettle dangling beneath the axle. This emigrant has come from Iowa. He is moving into the valley 'to take up a claim.' That is, he is going to select a piece of choice land under the homestead act, build a cabin and 'make or break in the per-ra-ry,' he says.

"He will be followed by others. The tide is setting on rapidly, and by the time the railway company is ready to carry freight there will be population enough in this valley to support the road. We have passed hundreds of such teams, and we shall see other hundreds. The path is beaten hard by the trampling of hoofs and by the footfalls of the moving multitude, who, when the railroad is opened, will be as near market as the residents of the most favored sections of Iowa. So that great innovator and civilizer, the locomotive, brings the ends of the earth together, and peoples the principal solitudes."

The King of the Rag-Pickers.

One of the mysterious potentates of the gay capital of Paris shuffled off this mortal coil and was buried with great pomp in that city. His funeral was plain, but was rendered conspicuous by being followed to the cemetery of Pere la Chaise by one thousand two hundred members of the rag-picking fraternity. Pere l'Epingle, such was the assumed name of the deceased monarch, was very reticent respecting his personal history, and no clue could be obtained regarding the place of his birth or his family name. A bundle of papers was found in his apartment, on which was written: "To be burnt after my death." Around his neck he wore a medallion, which was found to contain a miniature of Rachel, the actress. Often, when the inhabitants of the quarter where he resided were hard pushed, he would disappear for a time, but always returned with plenty of money to supply their wants. He was a very able physician, and made up his own prescriptions gratis. He was a great reader, and his vast collection of scientific books was always at the disposal of those who sought knowledge. During his leisure evenings he gave reading lessons to all the children who wished to partake of them. He was the king of his profession and adored by his subjects. All differences and disputes were submitted to his decision, and all thieves, when detected, were expelled from the community. Such was the character of a man generally beloved for his sound judgment and philanthropic principles. A few days after his burial had taken place, the community of the Chiffonniers of Paris elected a successor to the vacant post of honor in the person of Philip le Rebouteux. Sic transit gloria.

Reminiscence of Longfellow.

My walk to day took me through Beacon street, and by the house which was the residence of the late Nathan Appleton, the father of Longfellow's second wife, and of Tom Appleton, one of our Boston wits. I like this house for the very pleasant bit of history connected with it. Longfellow came in from Cambridge the day the Fifty-fourth Regiment left Boston, to witness the sight. He stood at an open window of the house, and waved with a will a large United States flag as the regiment marched past. "Think," said he to a friend (the late George Sumner,) "of my waving the stars and stripes from a house in Beacon street in honor of a colored regiment." He remembered when he wrote—

"Paul and Silas, in their prison,
Sang of Christ, the Lord arisen,
And an earthquake's arm of might
Broke their dungeon gates at night.

"But, alas! what holy angel
Brings the slave this glad evangel?
And what earthquake's arm of might
Breaks his dungeon gates at night?

The "holy angel" had brought "the glad evangel;" the "earthquake's arm of might" had broken the "dungeon gates," but not "at night"—in broad day, and in view of the universe. The fine nature of the poet appreciated the moral as well as dramatic effect of the spetacle. This scene in Longfellow's life, a living poem, should be perpetuated on canvass. A picture of our great poet, waving the national flag, as the first colored regiment of the war, with the gallant Shaw at its head, marched through the capital of the old Bay State, would show posterity how the best blood, the genius and culture, of the land hailed the golden light which ushered in our free, bright morning.—Boston Letter.

Obituary.

Professor Charles Dexter Cleveland, whose sudden death in this city yesterday from heart disease has been announced, was born on December 2d, 1802, at Salem, Massachusetts, and was the son of Rev. Charles Cleveland, of Boston. During five years of his youthful life he was employed in a store, but in 1823 entered Dartmouth College, N. H., from which institution he graduated in 1827. He was elected in 1830 Professor of the Latin and Greek Languages in Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., and in 1832 Professor of the Latin Language and Literature in the University of New York. In 1834 he established in Philadelphia a young ladies' school, which enjoyed a high reputation for the thoroughness of the discipline and the extended course of studies. In 1861 Professor Cleveland was appointed Consul at Cardiff, Wales, and after serving for several years resigned this position and returned to the United States. He subsequently revisited Europe, and passed some time traveling through Germany and over the continent. He had only returned to this country a few days before his decease. Professor Cleveland has written and published numerous educational works, but is best known for his Compendiums of English and American Literature, and his edition of Milton, with a copious verbal index to all the poems. In 1844 he wrote the address of the Liberty party of Pennsylvania, to the people of the State.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Little Too Sharp.

An enterprising business man of Hartford, Conn., runs two branches of trade, to wit: a grocery and fish-market; the grocery himself, the fish market by a deputy, and every night the latter makes returns of the proceeds of the day's business to the proprietor. A few days since the grocer found in his fish market returns a counterfeit $5 bill. He did'nt like to lose it, and did'nt quite want to take the chances of trying to pass it. So he called an old darkey who was hanging about the premises, and said to him:

"Sam, here's a $5 bill that's a little doubtful. If you'll take it and pass it, I'll give you a dollar of the change."

"Very well," said Sam, and he took the bill and went off. Later in the day he returned, having accomplished the feat, and handed over $4 in good money to the grocer. That night, the grocer, in counting the cash returns from his fish market, was more surprised than delighted to find the identical five in the pile.

"Look here," said he sharply to his fish-market clerk, "here's a counterfeit bill—who'd ye take it of? Did'nt you know it was bad?"

"Oh! yes," said he, "I remember; I took it of Sam, the darkey. I thought it was a little doubtful and wasn't going to take it, but he said he got it of you, so I thought it was all right."

Further explanation was unnecessary.

IT is reported that the New York Central people are sending through freight to Chicago over the Michigan Central Road, instead of the Lake Shore, and that an early alliance between the Erie and Lake Shore is quite probable.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PETROLEUM MARKET.

There is no improvement to note in the tone of oil market either as regards demand or prices, and the trade continues in that unsettled and unsatisfactory condition that has prevailed for several months, or we might say all this year. The fact is, there is no chance for business in the present state of affairs, and the bulk of the sales making from day to day, are "settlements;" refiners cannot entertain fresh negotiations for Refined at present price of Crude, and the crude dealer cannot make concessions, in view of the prices in the producing region. Compared with yesterday, the former has again declined, and the latter is weak but unchanged.

Circulars received to-day report the stock of oil in Philadelphia on Saturday last at 44,226 bbls refined, and 4,345 bbls crude. Exports from New York from January 1st to date, 35,812,184 gallons; same time last year 30,271,228; from Philadelphia, 17,081,560; same time last year, 18,018,374.

CRUDE.

But a single sale reported 1,000 seller all 1869 at 14¾, and there were other offers to sell same delivery at same price without finding buyers. Spot or seller this month was not offered below 15 here, although we understand that there were sales above at $5,85 on broad guage cars, which is considered equivalent to 14¾ or 14¾, delivered here.

REFINED.

Sale 500 bbls spot, at 31¾; 500 each September to December, at 32½; 2,000 each same months, at 32½; and 500 same at 32¼. While, as will be seen, prices remain without essential change, compared with yesterday, yet the feeling seemed to denote weakness, and, as the saying is, refined oil is now below cost.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET.

The metal market, compared with last week, has undergone but little change, and is devoid of anything really new or important. Eastern Irons are not arriving very freely which is in consequence of the fact that they are worth relatively more in Philadelphia, and this being the case the great proportion of Anthracite furnaces are shipping all, or nearly so, of their product to that market. There is a fair business in Western Irons with a better feeling reported, but no essential change in prices.

The Bellaire Nail Works were to resume operations Tuesday. Fires were lighted on Monday in a portion of the Belmont Mills. The Wheeling Intelligencer says that "next week the La Belle Mills will commence a new year's campaign. We have not heard when Riverside and Top Mills will resume."

RIVER NEWS.

The river remains about stationary at this point with twenty-one inches in channel by the metal mark. Weather continues oppressively hot—mercury 95 in shade.

—Capt. Stockdale expects to start the new steamer Barranquilla for New Orleans to-day.

—The Petrolia arrived from Parkersburg on Thursday, but did not depart again—at least she was still in port last evening.

—One of the fine barges which have been building at the boatyard of Messrs. Wilson & Dunlevy, Wheeling, for the Northern Transportation Company, was successfully launched on Monday last.

—A St. Louis telegram says: The Upper Mississippi has improved and the St. Paul boats will run through again until another decline. The Missouri and Illinois are declining. Weather clear and very warm. Mercury at 3 P. M. 96 deg.

—The Evansville Journal says that Evansville does not charge towboats wharfage when they land for supplies, but the barge line boats, doing a regular freighting business, are required to pay, like other freight and passengers; "and," the Journal asks, "why shouldn't they?"

—A Cairo dispatch under date of Wednesday says: The Great Republic is still here, being delayed repairing machinery, having unshipped her plumber block while aground above Cairo. She clears to-night after taking 750 barrels of flour, 450 sacks corn and oats, 32 hhds tobacco, 130 bales hay and 50 tons sundries.

—The New Orleans Bulletin of the 12th says: The colors of the steamboats in port were displayed at half-mast yesterday in token of respect to the memory of Patrick Murphy, late mate of the steamer Celeste, who was killed in an altercation about landing the boat, near Greenville, the night previous. The deceased leaves a wife and four children.

—The Inspectors of the Fifth District have instituted measures for the investigation of the circumstances under which the boilers of the steamer Cumberland were exploded last Saturday morning, near Shawneetown, a statement of which has already been made in these columns. Summonses have been issued for witnesses, and the matter will undergo a rigid examination.

—The Louisville Courier-Journal says: The Charleston is having a gorgeous time. Herself and barge were both hard aground on Portland bar last evening. Monday she was attached at the suit of her pilot, Captain B. J. Caffery, for wages due. She gave the necessary bond and was released. Captain Lee Crane went down to her last evening to try and get her off the bar.

—A Gallipolis dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette says: The Dexter was on the rocks at Buffalo, Kanawha, night before last, knocking a hole in her bottom. She went for the Middleport docks. The Active, owned at Brownsville, Pa., sold to day to Captain H. N. Bailey, Superintendent, for the Kanawha and Gallipolis Packet Company. She takes the Mountain Boy's run during low water. The Bellevernon is still aground on Buffington, trying to get off. The pilot of the Lawrence reports three feet of water on Guyan. Twelve pole and eight mile, and thirty inches on Buffington.

SECURITY AND COMFORT for the travelling community.

J. B. HARRIS

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and

MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fire in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY,

Ross and Diamond Streets,

Fall Term Opens September 2d.

There are Seven Departments—Collegiate, Scientific, Civil and Mechanical Engineering, Military Science, Commercial and Preparatory. In each, instruction is thorough and systematic. The Departments of Civil and Mechanical Engineering were organized last year, and have succeeded beyond all expectation. While the higher departments of the University are well provided for, special care is taken that Preparatory Students are supplied with the best instruction that can be employed. Past success warrants the assertion that students are afforded as good opportunities as can be had at home or abroad.

Call, for the present, from 9½ to 12 A. M., or send for a catalogue.

THE Humboldt Festival in Cincinnati does not seem to have assumed the importance that it has in most other cities in the country. A procession of vehicles is to go to the Union base ball grounds, where a temporary bust is to be decorated with wreaths.

THE Nashville Press reminds the Conservative majority, in the Legislature of that State, that not only Gov. Senter, but the entire list of their members-elect were chosen upon their express pledges to support the XVth Article and to uphold universal suffrage for white and colored citizens alike. Such reminders are, we fear, but a waste of ink and paper. It is probable that Gov. Senter will maintain his ground consistently, but he will be in fact powerless to prevent the Democratic duplicity which will shape the legislative action in defiance of every recorded pledge, rejecting the Article and restricting if not wholly abolishing the colored suffrage.

WE ANNOUNCE TO-DAY the Republican Vigilance Committees for the election districts of the county as appointed by the Executive Committee. The gentlemen named for the responsible position must not regard the appointment as an empty honor, but to the contrary, as an invitation to enter into the active work of the campaign. They are expected to take off their coats and roll up their sleeves for work in their respective districts, as it is intended to have old Allegheny furnish such a rousing majority for GEARY and WILLIAMS as will secure their election, no matter what may betide the party East of the mountains. No person designated should accept service unless he intends to fully discharge the labor imposed by the appointment.

THE question of "Park or no Park" will be presented to the voters of Pittsburgh on the 31st inst., as the Commissioners do not feel that the great project to benefit the people should be dropped entirely, because, forsoothe, of one property holder refusing to sell a portion of his ground in a particular location deemed suitable for a park. If no satisfactory arrangements can be made with him, the Commissioners will have alternatives in the case, either to compel its sale or to select some other equally desirable site. The matter to be settled by the citizens at the forthcoming election is whether they are in favor of or opposed to the purchase of grounds for improvement and adornment as a public breathing place. Much has been already said in favor of and against the project, and it is expected that a full and intelligent vote will be brought out upon the subject.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK IN PENNSYLVANIA never looked better than now. In Philadelphia we shall carry GEARY and WILLIAMS through by an old fashioned majority. In the anthracite coal regions, where Mr. PACKER should have considerable strength, he will fall behind the average Democratic vote, as he is by no means popular with the laboring people who go to make up the opposition in that section. He may, through social and business relations, draw to himself a few Republican votes, but he will lose a hundred fold in the ranks of his own party. West of the mountains the enthusiasm for the Republican ticket is great, and the accustomed majorities, in proportion to the vote out, may confidently be expected. On the whole we see nothing in the present situation which should cause any but the opposition to discourage, as never before have we entered a canvass where the course presented so fair a surface for gently walking over it to easy and decisive victory.

THE CAMPAIGN IN PENNSYLVANIA has auspiciously opened in various parts of the Commonwealth, and from every quarter come the cheering tidings that the Republicans are once more on the political war path with full hope for triumphant victory. Peculiarly fortunate in the selection of candidates and in the enunciation of principles which must appeal strongly to the public heart, the late State Convention of the Republicans left but little to be done by the masses they represented. The active, noisy, boisterous canvass is not necessary to ensure success on our part. What is wanted is quiet and effective organization, temperate discussion on the weight and merits of the principles espoused and of the men put forward by the respective parties. Plant seeds for thought and furnish food for reflection, and no doubt as to the result of the campaign need be entertained, Weighed down with the galling record of old, arrayed against the spirit of progression in the affairs of liberty and freedom, carrying candidates whose past histories contain nothing to warrant public confidence, and whose present recommends little for them, the Opposition are heartless and will feebly rally for the show of a contest. Let there be no breaking away from party lines in any instance, but standing firm and solid together, let the fight be made and another grand triumph of principle will be secured to the Republican cause.

THE principal Democratic candidates in Pennsylvania and in Ohio have always been in hearty accord with their party and with each other. Especially was this harmony manifest during the progress of the great rebellion. Mr. Packer supported Breckinridge in '60, opposed the suggestion of coercing the rebels into submission to the Federal authority, and went as far as he dared go, during the earlier years of the war, in approving their armed resistance to the Union. He did not talk, nor did he write; he could never make speeches, and none of his epistles have ever awakened the public admiration, but he could vote for disloyal candidates, and lavish his demonstrations of good-will upon the traitorous Vallandigham. But his friend and fellow-Democrat, Mr. Pendleton, could make speeches, and did so. On the 18th of January, '61, he expressed Mr. Packer's ideas very faithfully in the following speech in Congress:

My voice to day is for conciliation—my voice is for compromise, and it is but the echo of the voice of my constituents. I beg you, gentlemen, who with me represent the State of Ohio—you who, with me, represent the city of Cincinnati—I beg you, gentlemen, to hear that voice. If you will not; if you find conciliation impossible; if your differences are so great that you cannot or will not reconcile them, then, gentlemen, let the seceding States depart in peace; let them establish their government and empire, and work out their destiny according to the wisdom which God has given them.

I will tell you, my Republican friends, I know you have been pretty supercilious, you have been defiant, you have been outrageous; but I know I speak the heart and voice of the old war worn Democracy when I say that next fall we intend to have a free election, free ballot, free assemblage together, or the freest fight that ever took place in this country.

OUR NAVIGATION-RIGHTS.

A Commercial Convention of the Mississippi Valley has been invited to meet on the 7th of September, at Keokuk, Iowa. A very large representation is provided for, from the States, districts and cities bordering upon any of the tributaries of the Mississippi; a circular before us says:

"The ratio of representation will be two delegates at large for each State of the Mississippi Valley, and one delegate for each Congressional District in said States, one delegate for each city or town situated on the river, or any of its branches, and one delegate for each five thousand of population of such city or town, or fraction over. Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade of cities and towns along the rivers are requested to see to the selection of delegates from their respective localities."

The Convention will "consider all matters connected with the commerce and trade of the Mississippi and its tributaries," one of which will be to discover the best way of securing for these waters, freedom "from the fetters, natural or artificial, that obstruct its navigation, retard its commerce, or in any way hinder the development of the country drained by its waters." The circular dwells upon the imperative need that all obstructions impeding navigation should be removed, and that "vigorous measures to insure the attention of the Federal Government to that end" should be adopted at once. It is manifest that this is a subject of great interest to the people of the upper valley of the Ohio, whose single-handed and ineffectual struggle, for the protection of their navigation-rights from corporate encroachments, seem thus far to have been regarded with indifference by the citizens of other districts of the great valley of the West.

In commending this proposition for a general convention, to the favorable notice of our people, we wish that we could also anticipate that its proceedings might result in more of solid practical benefit to their navigation interests. But mischiefs already threaten us, which no meeting of this sort can avert or repair. The bridge at Parkersburgh seems certain to be built in the teeth of all our opposition. When completed, it will stand, as does another at Stuebenville, bidding defiance to the clear popular right, and secure from legal abatement in any form whatsoever.

If the friends of an unimpeded river-commerce, throughout this valley had come to our aid when invited a twelve-month since, realizing then what is now apparent to all, that we were fighting their battle as well as our own, our remonstrances would have been heeded at Washington, and the country would have escaped the shameful triumphs of incorporated selfishness over rights which are as natural as they are essential to the people of all this region which the Ohio drains.

But perhaps we may yet succeed, at Keokuk, under the present proposition, in organizing such a pressure upon the Federal authorities as will check these mischievous invasions upon the rights of the people, right where they are. If existing obstructions cannot be lessened or wholly abated, it will be very much to the purpose if the erection of fresh barriers to a free navigation can be effectually prevented. A well-organized combination can yet prevent the building of the Bellaire bridge, or of others which railway interests are not unlikely to project ere long, and which must multiply such perilous embarrassments, as finally to destroy the coal and lumber traffic on the Ohio river. We regard it as of importance, therefore, that our own cities, and all the districts of the water-shed west of the Allegheny Mountains, should be represented in the meeting at Keokuk by the right sort of thoughtful and sincere men.

American Science Association.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

SALEM, Aug. 20.—Among the papers read before the American Science Association to-day was one on the longevity of ships and on the values of standard monetary units, by Prof. E. B. Elliott, of Washington.

Another was read on trichina spirals by Dr. J. B. Baker, of Canada. Prof. Agassiz did not want the people to abstain from one kind of flesh flood more than another, for they all contain parasites, which are harmless when the food is properly cooked. He was certain that in eating fish we swallowed millions of them. Dr. Tyson said that trichina had been discovered in beef. All who spoke on the subject agreed that properly cooked food was a preventive of bad results.

Another paper, upon the distribution of coal, iron and precious metals in China, was read by Prof. Albert S. Biekman, who explored a large section of the empire in 1866. He traveled inland more than two thousand miles by boat journey, that could have been accomplished in one boat had it been made in the rainy season, so complete are the inland water connections. He visited and explored coal mines within thirty-five miles of Pekin, where machinery is now used. The coal, which is good anthracite and has been used since 1290, is taken to the great city on the backs of animals, where it is ground to dust and mixed with clay for use. Gold is quite abundant, yet the Chinese authorities discourage the mining of it.

In the evening Dr. A. B. Gould, of Cambridge, President of the last annual session, delivered his valedictory address in the Tabernacle Church, after which Mrs. Walcott held a levee at her residence. An invitation has been extended the Association by Mayor Shurtliff to visit the public institutions of Boston.

Movements of the President.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PROVIDENCE, R. I., August 20.—President Grant and family arrived at Newport this morning and proceeded to the summer villa of Governor Morgan. After breakfast he was waited upon by Mayor Atkinson and a Municipal Committee and tendered the hospitalities of the city. The President named Saturday from twelve to one P. M., at the State House, as the time when he would meet the citizens of Newport. From three to six on Saturday afternoon, the President will be present at a reception in his honor at Governor Morgan's. The President, Governor Morgan and families, have accepted an invitation extended by Ex Governor Dyer, as a Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be present at a clam bake, to be given by the Grand Army on Tuesday next, at Ocean Cottage, at Narragansett Bay, three miles below Providence.

Educational Associations in Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TRENTON, N. J., August 20.—The three Educational Associations held distinct meetings this morning. At the National Teachers' meeting there was an overflowing audience. D. B. Hager, of Massachusetts, was elected President for the ensuing year. Hon. Jos. White and Professor Monroe, of the same State, made addresses. Professor A. P. Gar, of the New Jersey State Normal School, will lecture this afternoon.

A grand reunion and the closing exercises will take place at Taylor Hall this afternoon.

Convention of Southern Planters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. VA., August 20.—At the Convention of Southern planters to-day, speeches were made by W. T. Sutherland, of Virginia, Hon. Mr. Clymer, of Pennsylvania, D. M. Baringer, of North Carolina, Gen. Lawton, of Georgia, and others. Mr. Sutherland said in Virginia the corn crop would be but about one third the usual yield and tobacco about half.

—At Madison, Indiana, an unknown man committed suicide on the Hanover pike about on mile below the city, Thursday night, by taking two ounces of laudanum. Letters found by his side were addressed to S. D. Bumhaw, Wauquon, Knox county, Illinois In his carpet bag was found a number of letters addressed to Lee Brown, West Jefferson. Madison county, Ohio, which is supposed to be the name and home of the unfortunate man. Whisky and fancy women appear to have caused the rash act.

—The drought is so bad in the vicinity of Richmond, Va., that forest trees are dying. Yesterday was the seventy-eight day since rain enough fell to thoroughly wet the ground.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

Appointment of Vigilance Committees—Early Organization of Ward, Borough and Township Clubs Requested.

The Union Republican Executive Committee of Allegheny county have selected the following persons to act as Committees of Vigilance for their respective election districts. These committees are authorized and requested to increase their number by the addition of other names whenever in their opinion such additions will add to their force and efficiency.

The following resolution adopted by the County Executive Committee before selecting the committees will explain the nature of the duties which they are expected to perform:

Resolved, That the Vigilance Committees this day to be selected for the various election districts of this county are expected, in conjunction with this Committee, to take charge of the interests of the Republican party for the ensuing campaign in their respective districts, to see that all Republican voters are duly registered; to see that public meetings are held, and to take such measures as will result in bringing out a full Republican vote on election day. And the Secretaries of this Committee are requested to direct the different Vigilance Committees to forthwith call meetings of the Republicans of their districts with a view to the prompt organization of campaign clubs in every district of the county, either by forming new clubs or by reorganizing the Grant and Colfax clubs of 1868.

A prompt organization of every Vigilance Committee throughout the county is desirable. And upon organization each Committee is requested to report to, and at once put itself in communication with the officers of the County Executive Committee, at Republican Headquarters.

By order of the County Executive Committee.

CIRCUS.

L. B. LENT, - - - - Director,

WILL EXHIBIT ON THE Diamond, Allegheny City,
MONDAY, TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY,
August 30th and 31st, and Sept. 1st.

THIS CELEBRATED TROUPE,

Which is permanently established in a splendid Iron edifice on Fourteenth street, New York, will occupy the usual summer vacation, during which the building is closed, with a

GRAND EXCURSION BY RAILWAY

through the country, travelling by special trains chartered for the purpose, with the intention of giving the inhabitants of their cities and towns an opportunity of witnessing a carefully selected programme of those

Brilliant, Exciting and Elegant
EQUESTRIAN ENTERTAINMENTS.

Which for years have proved one of the most popular and successful features of the public amusement in New York. To those who have ever witnessed the performances of this troupe, either at the Hippotheatron Buildings in New York or during the former summer excursions, it is only necessary to say that this year

New Artists, New Features,
And New Attractions

Combine to render its resources for the production of novelty

Greater than Ever Before,

And that it is confidently believed that in all respects the performances to be given the present season will be found not only superior to anything of the kind hitherto witnessed in America, but positively

UNEQUALED IN ANY COUNTRY.

NO CATCHPENNY SIDE SHOWS are allowed with this establishment.

ADMISSION, ...50 cents.
Children under ten, ...25 cents.

NO STANDING ROOM. SEATS FOR ALL.

Doors open at 2 and 7. Grand Entree at 2½ and 7½ P. M.

ALPERT & KOHLER,

Manufacturers and Dealers in BOOTS, SHOES AND GAITERS, No. 38 Market street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Particular attention given to Custom Work.
We beg leave to direct the attention of the public to the fact that we are now prepared to manufacture Boots and Shoes for persons troubled with Corns, Bunions, or deformed feet, under the personal supervision of our Mr. ALPERT, formerly of Allegheny City, who will be pleased to see his old customers again. We have adopted Mr. Alpert's mode of measuring the foot, by which we can be safe in warranting easy and comfortable Boots and Shoes for the tenderest feet. Give us a trial and be convinced.

PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.

Messrs. DABNEY, MORGAN & CO., 53 Exchange Place, and M. K. JESUP & CO., 12 Pine Street, N. Y., offer for sale the Bonds of the Kansas Pacific Railway. These Bonds pay seven per cent. in Gold; have thirty years to run; are Free from Government Taxation; are secured by a Land Grant of Three Million Acres of the Finest Lands in Kansas and Colorado. In addition to this special grant the Company also owns Three Millions of Acres in Kansas, which are being rapidly sold to develop the country and improve the road. They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. Pamphlets, Maps and Circulars furnished on application. au10

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 20, 1869.

On bond quotations from London, giving 84 for 5 20s of 1862, 83 for old 1865s and 82 for 1867s, Gold declined from 133, at which it was firm, to 132⅜, with a heavy market. Judging from present appearance gold is likely to go down much more, but in the oversold condition of the market, lies the cause for a sudden and rapid rise. Without mentioning the rumors put afloat in Wall street, to frighten the timid bears, there are causes to effect the market unfavorably. If the vaguely reported death of Napoleon can advance the market one per cent., what would the effect of the actual occurrence be under the present agitation in Spain. The reduction of the rate of interest at the bank of England to 2½ per cent, and an increase of specie in its vaults certainly shows a very unhealthy state of the business of England, and France and Germany are in no better condition. A decline in the inflated values of the different stock exchanges in the money centres of Europe, as well as here, would bring ruin to a large number of people, and here, where our circulating medium is based on paper, a scramble for gold would be quite a natural thing for the masses to resort to. The improved condition of the English crops might precipitate the prices of grain and flour in England to such a point that we could no export profitably, and would derive but little benefit from our rich harvest in a monetary point. This matter must be seriously considered since the fall crops of Northern Europe are a great aid in feeding the masses of the lower classes, especially in England, where people subsist on a less expensive food and do not require wheat flour for bread.

These are all probabilities that would influence a rise in gold, or in other words, would necessitate a large shipment of coin to make our balance of trade and pay back Europe the large capital temporarily invested here.

Government bonds have advanced, being scarce here and in demand for shipment to Europe on improved quotations from there. Lower gold, however, would force down their value as an investment, since there are many good investments in the market that would pay better, offering a good security.

Stocks are dull and nothing doing except in Ohios, which suddenly advanced about one per cent.

Money easy at from 8 to 9 per cent.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, August 20, 1869.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Consolidated Lake Shore and of the Toledo, Wabash and Western railroad companies, held in this city yesterday, terms were formally agreed upon looking to the consolidation of the two roads. The Lake Shore is to go into the consolidation with an increase of 20 per cent. on the amount of its stock, and the Wabash with its present capital, and the Lake Shore is to reserve a dividend of 4 per cent. on January 1st, 1870, making a total of stock and cash dividend of 24 per cent. The arrangement requires the previous ratification of three-fourths of the stockholders, which is counted upon as certain.

Money is easy at 6@7 per cent. Sterling quiet at 9¼@9⅞ per cent. Gold is lower, opening at 132⅞, and closed at 132⅝@133¼. The rise in bonds at London was the occasion of the advance. Carrying rates at 3@5 per cent. Clearances, $82,000,000.

Government bonds are active and excited, with a sharp advance in the prices. Quotations of Coupons of '81, 123½@123¾; do. '62, 123@123¼; do. '64, 121¾@122; do. '65, 121⅞@122; do. new, 120⅝@120¾; do. '67, 120¾@121; do. '68, 120½@120¾; 10-40's, 115@115¼; Pacifics, 109¼@109¼.

State bonds quiet and firm; Missouris, 86½; old Virginias 56¼; new do. 49⅞; old Tennessees 61; new do. 57½.

The stock market was strong during the morning. Wabash selling high at 87 and Michigan Southern at 109½. Notice was given at the Stock Exchange by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad Company, that in thirty days they will issue $1,200,000 new stock. In the afternoon the market was generally lower, with a disposition to sell the entire list in the expectation that the bank statement to-morrow will be unfavorable. The market closed active, but irregular and feverish

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 20, 1869.

Business generally is quiet though improving slowly, and the indications in regard to the future are all that could be desired. It has now been demonstrated beyond a doubt that at least an average crop of Grain has been secured, and the general impression is that the yield is considerably above an average. This being the case, lower prices are expected and it is the uncertainty in regard to values that is depressing business at present, as operators are timid about investing until prices have become more firmly established.

APPLES—In good supply and dull but unchanged; ranging from $1,00@3,00 per bbl.

BERRIES—Sales at 90@$1,00 per pail—pails to be returned.

BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged; sales good to choice at 20@24.

BROOMS—Quoted as follows: No. 5 $6,50; No. 4 $6; No. 3 $5, No. 2, plain, $4,50, and market firm.

CHEESE—Is firmer but unchanged; Western Reserve 13¾@14; Ohio Factory 14½@15; Ohio Goshen 15½ and York Goshen 16½.

CEMENT—Johnstown Hydraulic Cement is quoted at $2,25 per bbl.

CARBON OIL—Still quoted at 27@28 for round lots, and 29@30 in a small way.

EGGS—Sales at 14@15.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—The arrivals continue fair, and the supply is fully up to the demand which is confined enterely to supplying immediate wants of the home trade, and prices are unchanged. Spring wheat flours, to use a common phrase, are about played out in this market, and will continue so as long as it costs more than winter, which is considered the better of the two, even at the same price. We continue to quote the latter at $7@7,50 per bbl—choice brands of the former are quoted at $7,50@7,75.

GRAIN—Wheat is not so much sought after by the millers, as the impression is gaining strength that prices are about to go lower, though as yet, there is no change—$1,35@1,40 for new, and $1,43@1,45 for prime old. New oats weak and drooping: sales on track, at 47@50, and 45 to arrive. Corn is quiet and unchanged—$1@1,05; sale one car ear, at $1,03. Rye is not offering very freely, but the demand is only moderate and prices are unchanged at $1,15@1,20. New barley is quoted at $1,25, though as yet, there has been but little done.

HAY—New crop is offering freely, and we can report sales from country wagons at $14@18 per ton.

HEMP—Very dull, $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LIME—White Lime is quoted at $1,50, and Cleveland at $2.50, per bbl.

LARD OIL—F. Sellers & Co. quote Extra No. 1, at 1,40@1,43, and No. 2, at $1.05.

POULTRY—Sales of spring chickens, at 50@55 per pair.

PROVISIONS—Firm but unchanged. Shoulders, 15¾@16; Ribbed and Clear Sides, 18½@19½; Cincinnati Sugar Cured Hams 23½ and fancy 24. Lard, 20¼ in tierces, and 20½@21 in half bbls and kegs. Dried Beef 21½. Mess Pork at $33,75@34.

PEACHES—Unchanged; sales of eastern at $1.50@2 per box, as to qualtiy and condition.

POTAOES—Dull and unchanged; sales of Jersey Sweets at $7 per bbl.

PEANUTS—Higher, 14½ cts.

PEARS—$2,50@3,50 per bbl.

PLUMS—Sales at $3@3,50 per bushel.

SALT—Allegheny River brands are quoted, by the car load, 1, at $1,75@80.

TALLOW—Rendered quoted at 10½.

Silk and Tea Trade.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 20.—YOKOHAMA, July 29.—The market for staple imports is unchanged. Merchants have been warned against shipping goods to order. Silk arrivals are very slow, owing to the growers unwillingness to take payment in paper money. The yield is admitted to be a large one, and probably exceeds last year's settlements eight hundred bales, maibash, seven hundred and fifty dollars per picul.

There are no transactions in silk worm eggs. The arrivals are limited.

The tea crop is coming in slowly Sales of a small quantity of good medium to fine at full rates. The stock is rapidly increasing at Yeddo and Yekohsma. A reduction in rates is anticipated. Good common to medium, twenty-four to twenty-seven dollars per picul. Good medium to finest, thirty-three to thirty eight.

Exchange on London four to six and a half; Paris, five-seventy francs.

CHAPERONS.

[From the Saturday Review.]

With the close of the season end the sufferings of some of the hardest-worked of Her Majesty's subjects within the four seas—workers, too, whose labor is less profit than vexation, for, like the fishermen of old, they are of those who toil all night and too often take nothing. Perhaps no one is to be pitied more than those wretched slaves called chaperons; and certainly no slavery is more imperative or less personally productive than theirs. The park in the morning; fetes, visits, at home in the afternoon; dinners in the evening—not that they usually object to dinners, these being indeed the entertainments of their own order, and especially adapted to their condition; balls at night, after the opera may be, and may be two of a night—verily the life of a chaperon is one of unmitigated severity, and calls for the deepest commiseration from those who have hearts wherewith to feel the sorrows of their fellow creatures. Lately a rumor has been going about the London drawing-rooms that next season is to see the institution of chaperons done away with altogether, and society at the West end so far Americanised that our young ladies are to go to balls and parties by themselves, with no other care-taker than a brother, perhaps, or a delightful male cousin convenient to the occasion. Doubtless such an arrangement would simplify matters greatly; it would certainly alleviate the sufferings of the chaperons, while the young ladies and their partners would find nothing left to desire. Whether it would work well in the eyes of those who hold the doctrine of the giddiness of youth, and who, therefore, think the guardianship of the young one of the primary duties of maturity, is another matter; but if we come to liking—polling of the young ladies and their male cousins only—we should surely pole a large majority in favor of the abolition of a class which frets more than it preserves, and which has come to be too much of a symbol only, though retaining all the pains and penalties of a vital reality.

The duties of a chaperon are manifold, and, on the surface of things, contradictory to a bewildering extent. She has to attract and to guard, to allure and to restrain, to throw the line dexterously and with intent, but to prevent too much independent fluttering on the part of the bait, and too much nibbling on the part of the fish angled for; and yet without fluttering and without nibbling how can she get a valid bite? She has to take her wares to market, but she has to surround them with artful contrivances of defense work, while setting them as attractively as may be; she has to work hard to destroy the health, purity, and freshness on which she bases her best hopes; and she has to toil for her own undoing and to labor for no reward. This is the ethical view of a chaperon's life. The practical or real condition is even harder to understand; and how the institution ever grew into what it has now become, and on what principle it is founded, are mysteries scarcely to be explained. In France a chaperon is an absolute power with strictly defined duties and sharply masked responsibilities. She holds her charge as a very frail vessel indeed, whom she has not only to keep from evil influences from the outside, but whose inherent weakness and propensity to fall into mischief voluntarily and on her own account, have to be perpetually guarded against; the central point of all French morals being the innate depravity of human nature, and more especially the innate depravity of the young. Consequently men know what they have to expect when they encounter an ingenue taken abroad into the world under the eyes of her chaperon or her mother. They know that when they lead her out to dance they must keep within ear-shot of her chaperon, and be careful not to speak to her at all when the exigencies of the figure have removed them from hearing distance. They know that they must bring her back to maman the instant the dance is ended, and deposit her with a formal bow, safe under the protecting shadow waiting to envelope her. They know that they would be held to have acted in a manner both malhonnette and reprehensible if they said or did anything whatsoever that might touch her feelings or arouse her intelligence. And knowing all this, they treat their pretty ingenue with the same kind of care with which they would handle a fragile wax doll; and judge of her real nature, if they judge of her at all, as they best can by the mere sketch afforded them by her face and bearing, and the timid tones of her voice, when they hear them, which is not always. Stupid as all this is, both for the ingenue and her partner, it is thorough; and we accept it as the logical conclusion of certain foregone premises. Given a frail youth, much inclined to naughtiness, and having to be kept straight by the force of outside circumstances, by the care and restriction and unceasing vigilance of the mature whom experience has made wise, not to say suspicious and distrustful, and we can understand the French system, though we may not agree with it. Given, on the other hand, the American idea that the earth and all the fulness thereof is made for the young only, and that the first duty of boys and girls, as soon as they leave the school-room is to shelve the old folks and go ahead without delay—given the national belief in the power of all young people to guide themselves aright quite as well and a great deal better than their elders can guide them—and we can understand why chaperons are discarded over the water; and why the theory of their necessity is scouted as an insult to the free and enlightened juveniles who maintain that no dangers exist among themselves as an unchecked body, for which advice is needed or guardianship required. So it may be Heaven forbid that we should judge; and, miracles being not impossible. Transatlantic nature may be different from European humanity, and the fire of youth may (who knows?) be able to burn clear without smoke or flare in the home of the setting sun. Nevertheless it does seem to us somewhat strange to hear of splendid balls where crowds of smartly dressed and quite respectable young women have not the ghost of a chaperon among them, of sleighing parties in the brisk winter moonlight, with never a wary father nor cautious mother to guard the lambs from the wolves; of torchlight skating on the crowded "rinks," with no prudent guardian to steady the tottering steps of inexperience, and provide against the dangers of a fall on such slippery ground. To a French mother, to whom even our much more restricted freedom seems a dangerous tempting of Providence, such ways and manners are of course anathema maranatha, and not to be accepted as possible with innocency; and many are the equivocal positions in which a free-spoken and free-acting American girl places herself, and much and grave the misunderstandings to which she subjects herself, all in the naivest manner possible, when first she enters French society, and learns to her astonishment that young girls are supposed to be given over hopelessly into the power of the Evil One unless they have a chaperon always at their elbow to pluck them back by main force. But to us also this is an amount of liberty by no means desirable; and more than one Belgravian mother has heard with dismay whispers of the coming revolt, when our English young ladies intend to adopt the American flag, be their own generals and lieutenants, and cashier all their chaperons as so many worn out dummies of no use whatever.

Now it seems to us that this is a revolt quite without cause. Heaven knows that it is not much that chaperons do nowadays to restrain the independent action of the young, or to interfere with their liberty. Very few place any limits to the amount of pleasure indulged during the season, and quite as much flirting as is good for the soul of man or woman is allowed to go on under the eyes of the most watchful. Certainly chaperons, as an institution, still exist and flourish largely; but it would be difficult to discover their exact uses, if we except the uses of vacariousness and responsibility. If girls were wise they would know that no freedom is so great as that which is got by the shifting of responsibility. So long as they have a chaperon on whom to lay the burden of their follies, they may be imprudent as they like; but once left to themselves, they enter into the difficulties of responsibility; and if they have more freedom than even now, they have also to bear more blame for mistakes. As things are, their chaperons bear the brunt for them; and if they are faster than they ought to be, people condemn mamma for allowing them to "go on so," more than they blame the girls for using their overplus of liberty. They will find this out to their cost, if they translate the whispered threat into an acted reality. To be sure, such radical changes take time to complete themselves, and though year by year has seen the gradual extinction of the chaperon moral vitality, and season after season has made her functions more and more mythic, while appearances are held as essential as ever, still it will be long yet before English society will consent to be headed by young unmarried girls—before the grace and good inherent in at least the idea of a gouvernante is disregarded, and our maidens are left to go right and left at their own sweet wills, without a chaperon to countenance them, or a care-taker to restrain. It may all come in time, and probably will, according to the way things are going; but not just yet, we would hope.

But the person to be most pitied in all this is the chaperon herself, for whom it would be a relief unspeakable if some good working substitute could be devised, some quite satisfactory machinery, which would release her from her weary office while performing her duties. What a life hers is! Half dead with sleep and fatigue, she has to sit for hours in a heated, stifling room, choked with dust, dazed with the incessant flitting of whirling figures before her, stunned with dance-music which she hates; seeing money, precious money, falling in showers of torn tarlatanes and crushed flowers on the floor, without any result to make up for it; seeing, perhaps, the prize for which she has so long and craftily angled nibbling at some rival bait, while a worthless younger son, or ruined heir, pertinaciously holds on to hers, no matter what the efforts made to shake him off. She is no longer young, poor body, and has probably outlived her own capacity for pleasure. The days when music and dancing and a crowd gave her delight are far away in the mist of the past; her dress may be still a glory to her, for this is the last personal vanity that dies with a woman; but, oh! if she could exchange all this finery for an unpretending sack of linen, and go to sleep comfortably in the dark, instead of blinking here, set up in silks and satins, nodding in time to the rythm of the waltz. She is shaken in health; as who would not be after such a youth, and now such a maturity as hers? but the frightful round of the season has to be done gallantly; and there is no release for her till the House is up, when she can escape for a brief time of rest and early hours, broken by nothing more severe than a lawn party or picnic. Her girls look at things differently; and think themselves very hardly used if they cannot keep the poor soul up night after night till three or four o'clock, while they amuse themselves with flirting, ices, and the deux temps. It is her duty; and they hold her to it strictly, and make her bear her burden without wincing. Sad as it is to see the young fade and wither towards the end of the season, the haggard, jaded, dispirited chaperon is an object of greater pity still. The young things at least have had their fling, and been excited and amused, so that the bargain has not been quite barren with them; but the chaperon has lost her health and her rest for no result whatever; she has forfeited her peace, she has spent her substance, she has angled in the shallows, and fished in the deep seas, and cast her nets far and wide in every water; she has toiled all the night, but nine times out of ten in these wife-forswearing days she has taken nothing, and her labor has been in vain, and her portion but vanity and vexation of spirit.

NOT content with chloroform, says the Pall Mall Gazette, science has produced a knife which cuts so rapidly that the person operated upon feels no pain. The method was fully explained the other day to the British Medical Association by Dr. Richardson, the inventor, who has also written to the Times contradicting a statement which appeared in the paper to the effect that a rabbit was eating its dinner in front while it was being cut to ribbons in the rear by the instrument in question. Dr. Richardson tells us this was not the case; no animal whatever was allowed the privilege of being subjected to experiment, but he "was anxious to make an experiment, by way of illustration, on his own body." Unfortunately, "he was prevented at the last moment, by an accidental breaking of the instrument, from carrying out the demonstration."

FROM every part of Maryland and Virginia there are complaints of the long-continued drought and its blighting effects, particularly upon the corn and tobacco crops.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 325 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

SEWING MACHINES.

UNRIVALLED!

THE

WHEELER & WILSON

Sewing Machines.

LEADS ALL COMPETITORS.

The distinctive feature of the WHEELER & WILSON MACHINE is the use of a ROTARY HOOK to carry the loop of the upper thread around the spool containing the under, making the lock-stitch alike on both sides of the fabric, thereby doing away completely with the vibratory motion of a shuttle, the tension upon the under thread, and all devices for taking up slack thread; these are necessary on all two-thread Machines. The public have indorsed this principle by purchasing over 380,000 of our Machines—more than 100,00 in excess of those of any other manufacture! It has long been acknowledged by far the most simple Lock-stitch Machine in existence; having one-third less machinery than any other two-thread Sewing Machine.

(From the London Times.)

"The WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINE, which is the ONE BEST CALCULATED FOR HOUSEHOLD WORK, uses no shuttle, and makes the LOCK-STITCH alike on both sides of the goods.

"Some of the Sewing Machines are very extravagant in the use of thread; one of the most noted of those making the double loop chain-stitch, using six yards of thread to one of sewing. This is a serious matter, looked upon in a manufacturer's point of view, where the great aim is to economize the material."

Thousands of Testimonials could be given from all parts of the world, were it necessary to the reputation of this well-known Family Sewing Machine.

I beg to state that I have used my Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, in family sewing, fourteen years, without even the most trifling repairs; and it is in so good condition that I would not exchange it for your latest number (now upwards of 300,000). One needle served me more than a year in fine sewing.

MRS. ANNIE WARNER.

NEW YORK.

Mrs. Maxley has had her Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine in almost daily use for over eleven years without any repairs. She has done, with her own hands, during that period, the larger portion of the sewing for a family of eleven children on the machine, and part of the time for fifteen or twenty farm servants. She would not now change her Wheeler & Wilson for any other she has ever seen.

R. MAXLEY.

BRANDON, MISS.

Capt. J. YOUNG, JR., of Robinson township, Allegheny county, says: We have used the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine in our family two years. My daughter received but two lessons, and is able to accomplish every variety of sewing without any difficulty whatever. We had used the "Howe" and "Grover & Baker," and after a fair trial of these three leading machines, we can most confidently assert that no machine is so simple or so well adapted for ladies' and family use, as the "Wheeler & Wilson."

My wife has used her Wheeler & Wilson Machine ten years without repairs and has used only one needle for the last three years.

CHARLES J. GRAY.

NEWBURG, N. Y.

Ten years ago I purchased a Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, and have had it in constant use in my family since. We used it during the war to make clothing for our volunteers in the service, and for the hospitals, and this work was very heavy, being coarse woolen and cotton fabrics. It is still in good working order, nothing having been broken but a few needles. You are welcome to use my name in your recommendations.

MRS. HUGH McCULLOCH,

GREY NUNNERY, MONTREAL.

We, the undersigned, Sisters of Charity, certify with pleasure that, after a trial of ten years, we have found Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines superior in every respect to all others used in our establishment. Their mechanism is strong and perfect, and with little care never get out of order.

SISTER COULTER,

In order to facilitate the sale of, and place a Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine within the reach of every one, we propose to lease them on the following terms: We will furnish one of our celebrated Sewing Machines to any one depositing with us fifteen dollars as security for its safe keeping, and paying us ten dollars per month for the use of the same. When the monthly payments and deposit amount to a sum equal to the Cash Price of the Machine, we will give a receipt in full for the Machine.

The Names of Mr. Lockhart and Mr. Mawhinney are in the list of Americans, in Paris, registered at the banking house of Messrs Drexel, Harses & Co.

Disorderly Conduct.—Rosa Bing made information before Alderman Koenig, charging Gotleib Feel with disorderly conduct. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Committed.—Yesterday morning Jos. Smith had a hearing before Mayor Drum on a charge of stealing a cady of tobacco from the freight depot, on Penn street. He was committed for trial.

An Improvement.—A decided improvement has been made at the Second avenue spring or fountain, by the addition of a large cast iron trough, for which the public is indebted to the Birmingham Bridge Company.

Sent to Claremont.—Samuel Gibson, a notorious boy, was sent to the Work House yesterday by the Mayor, on a charge of attempting to rob the safe of Messrs Bruggerman & O'Brien, commission merchants, on Liberty street.

Completed.—The repairs on Smithfield street, which the Birmingham Passenger Railway Company have been making, have been completed, and the workmen have been transferred to the South side of the river for the purpose of repairing Carson street.

Dr. Ingraham & Co.'s Advertising Troupe are in Allegheny. It consists of four horses, one a dancing horse, and six men. They are well spoken of at every place they have visited. The Kittanning Sentinel says; "They are gentlemen, and do as they agree."

Personal.—Rev. E. B Snyder, formerly pastor of the North avenue M. E Church, Allegheny, is on a brief visit from Chicago, to his friends in the city. He will preach to-morrow morning to his old congregation, and address the Sunday School in the afternoon.

Alleged Larceny.—Andrew Harpy made information, some days since, before Justice Ammon, charging Charles Mollenhaus with the larceny of a wagon valued at $20. A hearing was had in the case yesterday; when the defendant was discharged, the case being dismissed at the cost of the prosecutor.

Hot Weather.—Yesterday was by several degrees the hottest day of the season in this locality. The mercury in the thermometer at the south end of the Monongahela Suspension Bridge stood at 97 deg. above zero in the shade at half-past two o'clock, and at the same point reached 109 deg. in the sun.

Officer Prosecuted. — Patrick Manny made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday against officer Gabby of the Allegheny Police, for assault and battery. The prosecutor alleges they had a difficulty in a saloon on Ohio street, Allegheny, when Gabby knocked him down. Warrant issued.

Surety of the Peace.—Mrs. Mary Harrison made information before Justice Barker, of South Pittsburgh, yesterday, against her husband, Michael Harrison, for surety of the peace, alleging that Michael gets drunk and abuses her, and that he, at one time, threatened to kill her. He was arrested and in default of bail committed to jail.

Accident.—Yesterday morning a little boy, while riding on a dray down Wylie street, attempted to get off when his foot became entangled in the chain at the rear, which caused him to be thrown to the ground and dragged along some distance before being observed by the driver. He was severely though not fatally injured, and when carried home medical attention was called in.

Malicious Trespass.—Thos. J. Irwin made information before Justice Ammon yesterday, charging Howard Munn and others with malicious mischief. He alleges that Munn and two other boys entered the orchard of Mrs. Wnarton, in Lower St. Clair township, and destroyed fruit and trees, "contrary to the act of Assembly in such cases made and provided." A warrant was issued.

The Boat Race.—The referee in the boat race of Thurday, gave his decision before the parties had quitted their boats, declaring that Coulter had won the race and was entitled to the stakes, which we learn have been paid over. The time, as given by the timekeeper by the referee, was thirty-seven minutes and fifty seconds, which is the best time ever made in a race over that course.

Slight Fire.—At fifteen minutes past nine o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was given from box 25, which was occasioned by a slight fire in Anderson, Cook & Co.'s steel works, on Ross street and First avenue. The fire department responded promptly but did not go into service, as the fire was extinguished by a hose belonging to the establishment. No damage of any consequence was done.

Pocketed the Proceeds. — William Reese and another man ran a foot race at Ormsby's Grove, Monday, for seeing which the sum of twenty-five cents was charged, and Thomas Sullivan was gatekeeper. It is alleged that Thomas received the sum of sixteen dollars, gate-money, which he failed to hand over. An information was made before Justice Ammon by Reese, charging Sullivan with larceny. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Ferocious Dog.—William Palmer is the possessor of a dog, which, not being an inhabitant of this city, failed to receive a dose of Hague's "strychline," and consequently has during the dog-days been roaming at large, "seeking whom he might bite." In the course of time he bit a little girl, the daughter of Patrick Thorn, a resident of South Pittsburgh, who made information before Justice Barker, charging Palmer with keeping a ferocious dog. A warrant was issued.

The War in Africa.

Crawford street, in the neighborhood of No. 36, was the scene of considerable excitement yesterday morning. Notwithstanding the oppressive heat of the weather, an engagement took place between the Fairfaxes, Richards and Duffeys. It is not known, and probably history will never record the exact circumstance which brought on the conflict. It will suffice, however, to know that after a short colloquy Mrs. Fairfax, better known as Fanny, dropped a word which caused the feelings of Fanny Duffy to effervesce. She did more; she became violent in her demonstrations of displeasure, and it is said in her wrath seized a poker with which she staggered Mrs. Fairfax by two well-directed and powerful blows. Mrs. Fairfax received one on the back of the neck and the other below her right eye. This was all wrong. Pokers were not made for this purpose, and should not be so used. The Fairfax stock was game though, and did not succumb—not yet. She maintained her ground gallantly, though odds turned against her. Mrs. Richards, finding her neighbor Duffey about being vanquished rallied to her rescue. Mrs. Fairfax was made aware of the presence of a new opponent, by a brick which sailed in a beautiful curve, and lighted with damaging effect upon the top of her head, while a third assailant, James Richards, brought up the reserve and placed himself within the provisions of the assault and battery act by encouraging the two assailants, and lending some assistance, by hostile demonstrations of a forcible but general character. Fanny finally retired from the field and left her victors rejoicing over their victory, while she acquainted Alderman Butler with the circumstances. It was not long before the joy of the victors was suddenly interrupted by the appearance of a police officer, who compelled them to return with him to the magistrates office where they were required to enter bail for court on charges of assault and battery. So Mrs. Fairfax in the end conquered.

Who is Responsible.

Some weeks since a notorious character was arrested, in this city as a professional thief, and taken before the Mayor, who committed him for ninety days in accordance with the laws. Subsequently, an attorney, on obtaining a promise from the fellow to leave town immediately, induced the Mayor to release him on condition that he, the thief, would leave the city within twenty-four hours, and not return again. The chief of police was informed by the Mayor on what conditions the man had been released, with instructions to arrest him if found within the city limits after the expiration of twenty-four hours. Over a week has passed since those instructions were given, and the thief, although he may be seen on the streets every day and night in the week, has not been arrested. Who is responsible? It is quite evident some one is at fault.

The attorney certainly had a right to secure the release of his client, and the Mayor undoubtedly had a right to release him; in fact it was the best thing he could do, provided the conditions of the release were complied with, as he could thereby save the county the expense of keeping the prisoner. It is the duty of the Chief of Police to obey the instructions of the Mayor, and consequently it devolved upon him to see that the conditions of that release were faithfully carried out, and if not to arrest the man and have him re-committed. We should think that the number of larcenies and robberies which have been committed in the city during the past week or two would be an inducement to Chief Hague to cause the arrest of men whom he knows to be professional thieves and burglars. Will he do it?

Changed His Linen.

There are several ways of being taken in, some of which are agreeable and others the reverse. Sometimes persons are taken in by being made the victim of a scamp in whom they have trusted. It was in this way James McGowen, proprietor of the Western Hotel, at the railroad crossing, Penn street, alleges he suffered. John Welsh is charged with making him a victim. It is alleged that John obtained boarding at the hotel for some time, and left his baggage as security for the bill when the landlord demanded payment. In this way it is said he managed to slide along two or three additional days, when he requested the landlord to allow him to procure some clean linen out of the valise, representing, it is alleged, that he was about to get the money for the bill. The confiding landlord alleges he allowed John to take the valise and enter another room for the purpose of making the change. He saw him no more, nor the valise either. He asserts that the chap, by some surreptitious means, effected his escape, and thus cut his bill without the loss of his raiment. To endeavor to right the matter he made information before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, against Welsh for false pretence. Warrant issued.

Miraculous Escape.

Thursday evening, between six and seven o'clock, Captain T. F. Fowler made a very narrow escape from instant death at Leetsdale, about fifteen miles below this city, on the Fort Wayne Railroad. At that point he stepped off the train, which had stopped for passengers. The train was just beginning to move on again when he attempted to jump on the front platform of the rear car, but tripped and knocked his head against the car, causing him to lose his hold and fall on the track underneath with his head resting on the rail. Quick as thought a bystander seized hold of and jerked him from his perilous position, not five seconds before the wheels of the hind truck passed over the track upon which his head was resting. He was somewhat stunned by striking his head, but recovered in a short time and was able to walk around, apparently none the worse for the accident which almost caused his death.

Grand Charity Picnic.

On Wednesday next, at Monitor Grove, on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad, the Union Charity Club, of this city, will hold their annual excursion to the woods and wilds with a grand select picnic. The social Winter and Summer occasions of this philanthropic and praiseworthy association of many of our best and most respected young men, have always been regarded with high favor by the general community, and doubtless there will be large attendance on Wednesday next. A string band, a good dinner, a broad and wide platform for dancing, and no drinks in the neighborhood, are the striking temptations. No person will be admitted to the grounds who has not purchased a card in advance from one of the managers, and as no exception on any consideration has ever been known to this rule by the Club, we advise our friends who desire to attend to seek out the managers and procure an invitation.

Sporting News.

Among the many who lost or won on the boat-race, none were more enthusiastic or interested in the aquatic excitement than Mrs. Ellen Kemp and Mrs. Mary Alexander, ladies of color, residing on State alley, Sixth Ward. Mrs. Kemp was firm in her convictions that "the little engine" would come off triumphant, while Mrs. Alexander was equally confident that success would crown the efforts of "the Manchester oarsman." Often in intervals of leisure, the two would pass the time pleasantly in spirited discussions in reference to the matter, but, until the race was decided, no bad feeling was manifested. Then the amicable relations were somewhat disturbed by the action of Mrs. Alexander. It was well enough that she should rejoice at the result which confirmed her previous judgment, but she rather went beyond the range a little, when she jubilated in the presence of the chagrined Mrs. Kemp. She jubilated extensively and in a boisterous manner. As might have been expected, Mrs. Kemp became out of humor, and finally turned the Alexander joy into mourning, by lifting several handsful of hair from the Alexander head. This is what Mrs. Alexander asserted when she called at Alderman Butler's office yesterday and complained to the official of the treatment received. The magistrate sympathized with her, and directed his constable to secure the attendance of Mrs. Kemp at his office to answer a charge of assault and battery.

How it is Done.

A few days since a young man, having been guilty of some slight indiscretions, in consequence of which he was involved in a criminal prosecution of a rather serious nature, called upon us and requested us not to publish the matter, with which request, after hearing his explanation of the affair, we promised compliance. He then informed us that he had requested the Alderman before whom the information was made to suppress it from the reporters, which that worthy declined to do only on condition that he receive the sum of five dollars. We have no objections to Aldermen making heavy bills of costs and collecting them, if the court will permit it, but we do most decidedly object to the other arrangement, as it is an infringement on the rights of "ye local" to suppress news from him, and if we hear of any more of it we will inform our readers who it is that is depriving them of police news.

The Robbery on Sixth Street.

We stated yesterday that a little boy had robbed the till at Hespenheide's store, Sixth avenue, but incorrectly stated the amount taken. It should have been one hundred and thirty dollars, the little fellow, Patsey Cummings by name was arrested about nine o'clock the same evening at his fathers residence Point street when he acknowlaged the theft, but said he had turned the money over to Patrick Whalen a companion, Whalen was also secured, and both boys locked up until this morning when, E. A. Frank, the clerk at the store made information against Cummings for larceny, and against Whalen for receiving it. The accused were committed to jail, and will have a hearing this morning. One hundred and twenty-five dollars of the amount was found in the possession of Whalen.

Retained the Effects.

The funeral of a colored lady who had made Allegheny her home, occurred a few days since. The deceased left behind some household effects and personal property, and hardly had her mortal remains been laid in the grave, before a difficulty arose relative to the disposal of the articles. The matter ended in a law suit which was developed at Alderman Mullen's yesterday. Anna Helleid, a sister of the departed, claimed the goods, but alleges she was cheated out of her rights by James Douglas, another African who obtained possession of, and refused to give them up, notwithstanding her repeated demands. The Alderman issued a warrant for the arrest of the obstinate James, who will be allowed an opportunity to explain himself. All the parties reside in the Third ward.

Recovered.

A day or two since some dextrous scamp entered the office of Dr. Donnely, on Grant street, and carried off a new light spring overcoat from the hat rack. Officer O'Connor, of Alderman Strain's police, was informed of the circumstance and after diligent search found the article in Cohen's pawnbroker shop, corner of Penn and Canal streets. Mr. Cohen, when the article was identified immediately handed it over, and stated that it had been left there by a man giving his name as Frank Lyons. Frank was to call for it yesterday but somehow failed to put in an appearence. The officer is on the lookout for him, but will probably not secure the chap, as he is supposed to have left town.

An Amusing Wager.

An amusing incident consequent upon the result of the boat race between Hamill and Coulter will take place this evening. D. W. Keefer and John Faas bet on the boat race, the wager being that the loosing man should wheel the other to the residence of the winning oarsman in a wheelbarrow, the procession to be preceded by a brass band, and after serenading the champion return in the same manner to the starting point. Keefer having bet on Hamill is of course the loosing man, and at five o'clock this evening the "wheelbarrow train" will start from the Mayflower saloon on Federal street, Allegheny city, preceded by the Great Western Band.

The New York Circus.—In a few days the celebrated "New York Circus Company", of New York, will spread their tent in Allegheny City and invite the people to an entertainment which has won the highest praise from the leading eastern journals. This company has departed from the old, beaten path of circus performances and introduced a new era in amusement under the tent. Discarding all that is low and vulgar and offering an entertainment that the purest minded may attend without receiving a shock to their ideas of propriety and decency. We urge all our readers, ladies and gentlemen, to attend, and be convinced there is virtue in sawdust, innocent amusement in the ring, and genuine humor in the performances under the tent.

Locked up for a Hearing.—William Palmer, a boy, was arrested on a charge of larceny, last evening preferred by S. E. Buckley, a clothier on Market street. It appears that Palmer and his brother who are boys were employed to put a load of coal in the vault for the prosecutor, and while at the work, he alleges they stole a hat and some other articles. Willian was arrested but the other brother escaped. The boy was locked up in the watch house for a hearing to day.

In Memoriam.

At a special meeting of the Allegheny County Medical Society, held August 17, 1869, the following tribute of respect was paid to the memory of their late colleague, Franklin Irish, M. D.:

Resolved, That the members of this Association having heard with deep felt sorrow of the death of their late associate, Dr. Franklin Irish, take this oppor unity of acknowledging and conveying to the friends and family of the deceased their high appreciation of his many sterling qualities, and their sense of the great loss the profession and the community have sustained.

That in the death of Dr. Irish this Society has lost an honored and useful member, and the profession a devout and accomplished disciple, one why by his bearing and intercourse with his professional brethren, claimed and received the tribute due to honorable men.

Urbane and amiable in his intercourse with all, yet debarred the pleasure of society in a great measure by reason of failing health, incurred by his service in the late war, where he was known as an efficient and faithful surgeon.

That we will cherish and revere his memory as one of our profession who realized that noble sentiment, "The proper place for man to die is where he dies for man."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the papers of this city for publication.

Mortuary Report.

The Physician to the Board of Health, Dr. W. Snively, makes the following return of deaths in the city of Pittsburgh, for the week commencing August 7th and ending August 14th, 1869:

There were 34 deaths, of which 15 were males and 19 females; 32 were white and 2 colored.

The causes of death were: Old age, hemiplegia, gastromalacia, cardiac disease, cerebritis, tubercular meningitis, hydrocephalus pertussis, typhoid fever, marasmus, cholera morbus, diarrhea and enteretis of each one; accident, cerebral congestion, bronchitis, cholera infantum and still born, of each two; three of dysentry, and eight of tuberculosis.

Of the above there were 6 under 1 year; from 1 to 2, 4; 2 to 5, 5; 5 to 10, 1; 10 to 15, 1; 15 to 20, 1; 20 to 30, 4; 30 to 40, 6; 40 to 50, 1; 50 to 60, 2; 60 to 70, 1, and 70 to 80, 1. Total 34.

Life Insurance.

On this subject a writer for the Sunday Leader, speaking from experience, says: "When our policy was handed to us we accepted it with much the same feeling that we should have accepted the title deeds of an estate for our children; and such it really is—a Life Policy in a reliable company for $5,000 is a legacy of $5,000 cash."

"As to companies, make your own choice. We (several of the Leader corps) have chosen the "Co-operative," 128 Smithfield street, for the reason that it is a home Company and is under the control of well-known gentlemen, amongst whom every one will recognize a friend or acquaintance in whom he can trust. Its system of business is every way less complicated, more equitable, and economical, as well and apparently more secure than the best plans of the old-style Companies."

The Continental.

The Continental Saloon, Fifth avenue, below the Postoffice, as conducted by the accomplished proprietor, Mr. William Holtzheimer, is deservedly one of the most popular and fashionable restaurants in the city, a fact which is made apparent from the character of its patrons, who number representatives from all the trades and professions, merchants, brokers, lawyers, doctors, mechanics and ministers. The chief reason for its popularity consists, aside from the daily fare, which is of the first order, in the neat, clean and tasteful manner in which food is prepared and placed before the patrons. This is a desideratum not found elsewhere, but which is certain to be properly appreciated, and, as in the case of the Continental, make the restaurant where it is found popular and successful. Meals are served at all hours, and our readers may call and test the Continental for themselves.

A Handsome Pavement.—The recently patented pavement for sidewalks, known as the Boulevard, is destined to become popular and extensively used wherever its merits become known. By this patent a pavement, economical, but smooth, clean and durable, may be put down in front of any residence with comparatively small cost. The pavement has been tried, and so far gives universal satisfaction. It is now being introduced in this vicinity by Messrs. McGowan & Co., who have already filled a number of orders and are meeting with gratifying success Full particulars of the Boulevard may be obtained by applying to Messrs. McGowan & Co., No. 95 Ohio street, Allegheny.

Berthold Auerbach's Celebrated Novels.—For sale by John W. Pittock, opposite the Postoffice: Villa Eden, the Country House on the Rhine, $2; On the Heights, $2; Edelweiss, $1; Black Forest Village Stories, $.50. Miss Alcott's two new stories for girls. Little Women; Jo, Meg, Beth and Amy—first and second series, each $1 50. Jean Ingelow's new fairy book. Mopsa the Fairy, $1 50. Five hundred volumes of bound books which were formerly sold at $1.50, $1.75, $2, and $2.50, at 75c. apiece. This is one of the cheapest lots of books ever offered, and embraces almost every phase of literature, history, romance, travels, poetry, &c., &c.

Popular.—Decidedly one of the most popular houses in the city is Moorhead's trimming establishment, No. 81 Market street. This is explained by the fact that customers are always treated with the greatest courtesy and have the benefit of selecting from a large and fashionable stock, always consisting of the very latest novelties. We know of no place in the city which we can more conscientiously recommend to purchasers.

Elegantly Finished, durable and cheap as the cheapest—the Keystone ware manufactured at the Keystone Pottery, Messrs. Kier & Co. No. 363 Liberty street.

Figured Grenadines.—Bates & Bell offer Silk Grenadines for 50c, worth 75c. All Granedines proportionably cheap.

Truth in a Nut Shell.

It is a very hard matter to decide from the many conflicting statements that from time to time appear in the daily papers regarding the number of Sewing Machines sold in this community. Some enterprising agents assert that they sell double the number sold by their rivals, while others make more modest assertions. In order to help our readers arrive at the truth, as the popularity of a machine is the best evidence of its superiority, we would state, as all business men know, that each agent is compelled by law to make a return under oath of his yearly gross sales. From the first day of April, 1868, to the 31st day of March, 1869, as we learn from official sources, these returns were made as follows:

Weed Sewing Machine.	112 Grant St.,	$28,926 67
Singer "	" Sixth and Penn Sts.	35,500 00
Howe "	" 4 Sixth s reet	25,000 00
Grover & Baker,	Fifth avenue	24 600 00
Empire & Wilcox & Gibbs,	49 Sixth st.	18 600 00
American Buttonhole Company		No return

MORE TRUTH IN A NUTSHELL.

The above figures, so far as they go, are correct, but are intended to mislead and deceive a good many persons who may eventually buy Sewing Machines. As the author of the foregoing paragraph truthfully asserts, "the popularity of a machine is the best evidence of its superiority," and we can affirm that so popular has the WHEELER & WILSON machine become, and so well established as a household necessity, that we have not deemed it necessary to do any advertising for the past ten months, and are only prompted to do so now, to prevent misrepresentation To show the estimation that the public have of the "Wheeler & Wilson," we correct the above statement so as to include the sales of this justly popular machine from the Pittsburgh office within the same time:

Wheeler & Wilson, (140 Wood St.)	$159,900
Weed	39,000
Singer	35 500
Howe	25,000
Grover & Baker	24 600
Empire and Wilcox & Gibbs	18 600
American Buttonhole	No return

This proves that we not only sell "double the number" of machines sold by "any of our rivals," but also that our sales exceed the combined sales of all of them over seventeen thousand ($17,000) dollars. Therefore if popularity is the true test, the Wheeler & Wilson is the superior machine. Considering that we are pretty well known among sewing machine houses, we cannot understand how our neighbors overlooked us when compiling their report. It must certainly have been an oversight, for if intentional, we should imagine they did not want the few who buy their particular machine to know that there was a better one in the market.

We would invite parties desirous of buying machines to call at our elegant salesroom, 140 Wood street, and examine the Wheeler & Wilson Machine before purchasing elsewhere.
WS WM. SUMNER & CO.

The language of nature and experience demonstrates that whoever would enjoy the pleasures of food, the beauties of landscape, the joys of companionship, the riches of literature, or the honors of station and renown, must preserve their health. The effect of foul, injurious food, entering the stomach, is to derange the digestive organs and produce headache, loss of appetite, unrefreshing sleep, low spirits, feverish burnings, etc., which are the symptoms of that horrid disease, Dyspepsia, which assumes a thousand shapes, and points toward a miserable life and premature decay. PLANTATION BITTERS will prevent, overcome and counteract all of these effects. They act with unerring power, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. TH.S.T.F.

Arrival.—We would call the attention of parties desiring anything in the way of Fine China, to the new goods now opening at the well known house of H. Higby & Co., 189 Liberty street, imported directly from Europe. Among which may be found Dinner, Tea and Oyster Sets, exquisitely decorated in Coral, Green, Peachblow, Moss Rose and Forget-me-not patterns, also an elegant assortment of China and Stone Toilett Sets, in rare and rich patterns, together with a full line of the finest White Granite ware. From the well known character of the firm for fair dealing, we can confidentally bespeak an examination of their stock of wares. dwlt

The best and Original Tonic of Iron, Phosphorus and Calisaya, known as Caswell, Mack & Co's Ferro Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya Bark. The Iron restores color to the blood, the Phosphorus renews waste of the nerve tissue, and the Calisaya gives a natural healthful tone to the digestive organs, thereby curing dyspepsia in its various forms, Wakefulness, General Debility and Depression of Spirits. Manufactured only by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. Sold by all druggists. s

A Good Evidence.—A good article is always certain to be popular and find a ready sale when once its merits become known, which is the reason of the continually increasing demand for Marvin's Crackers. No better evidence of the quality of these crackers is needed than the fact, that although the extensive manufactory on Liberty street is kept constantly running, the demand can hardly be supplied.

Think You the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure if his Remedy was a humbug? Preposterous idea! Sold by druggists everywhere at fifty cents. and it prepares a full pint of the medicine ready for use.

It is getting so we can hardly go into a Drug Store, without seeing piles of Constitution Bitters. The sale must be enormous, and to obtain such results, must be extremely gratifying to Messrs. Seward & Bentley, the proprietors. They seem to have touched the magic wand when they introduced these Bitters, and no Bitters could have attained such a popularity unless of real worth.

Now Is the time for preserving fruits. A large and varied assortment of the best kinds of glass jars for this purpose will be found at the warehouse of the Keystone Pottery, Messrs. Kier & Co. proprietors, No. 363 Liberty street.

Thirty-one years under one management, the American house has grown from a small hotel to the largest in New England. It is furnished with all the contrivances for the convenience and comfort of its guests, and is deservedly popular with the traveling public.

Bates & Bell are selling Japanese Silks, Summer Silks, Thin Dress Goods and Shawls, at very low prices to close the stock.

Still They Come.

The American Button Hole and Combination Family Sewing Machine Company, for which Mr. James Espy is the agent for this neighborhood, office corner Fifth avenue and Market street, daily grows more popular and its sales continue to run high up in the figures. We have to-day to record the following additional purchasers who, acknowledging the superiority of their merits, have introduced them during the past week into their families:

Mrs. Joseph Woodwell, East Liberty, Pa.
Mrs. George Porter, Third avenue.
Mrs. Frank Sellers, East Liberty.
Mrs. Annie Davis, Penna. avenue.
Mrs. E. G. McDonald, Centre avenue.
Mrs. J. Lauer, Lawrenceville.
Mrs. J. G. Lauer, Lawrenceville.
Mrs. N. Lewis, Spring alley.
Mrs. Benj. Lutton, North Canal St., All'y.
Mrs. Wm. Fleming. Carroll street, Alleg'y.
Mrs. H. Shields, Carroll street, Alleg'y.
Mrs. C. Knox, Sandusky street, All'y.
Mrs. Frank Speck, Cedar avenue.
Mrs. James Benny, Jr., East Liberty.
Mrs. W. K. Woodwell, East Liberty.
Mrs. E. Espy, Upper St. Clair.

Mr. Espy has just introduced at his elegant sales room, corner of Fifth avenue and Market street, an American Family Machine, combining all the great peculiarities of the principal instrument, save the button hole making part. It is of neat furniture and is encased or covered, and yet sells at the very reasonable price of sixty dollars. We bespeak from our readers careful inspection of these machines before any others are selected.
